Farmingville, NY – Brookhaven Town Highway Superintendent Daniel P. Losquadro and Councilman Neil Foley announced the completion of a resurfacing project along Buffalo Avenue, from Southaven Avenue to Jamaica Avenue, in Medford.

The paving project received federal funding in the amount of $344,000 through the New York State Department of Transportation's High Priority Project Program. The Brookhaven Highway Department contributed $86,000 to complete the project, which totaled $430,000.

"I was very happy to be able to complete this paving project this season, thanks primarily to the grant funding we utilized," said Superintendent Losquadro. "The resurfacing of this roadway was a long time coming for Buffalo Avenue residents, as well as families and staff traveling to and from Patchogue-Medford High School, which sits on Buffalo Avenue."

In addition to paving, several new drains were installed at the intersection of Buffalo Avenue and Justin Drive to alleviate flooding issues.

Councilman Neil Foley said, "Keeping our roads well maintained and safe is a priority for the Town, especially for those that are near schools where thousands of students and staff travel each day. I thank Superintendent Losquadro and the Highway Department for completing this project and for all they do to improve our infrastructure every day."
